REFEREE Brian Fish was barred from the boardroom by Wycombe Wanderers' chairman Brian Lee following Saturday's game at Loakes Park.

The Surrey referee, who angered supporters and officials from both camps with a series of ridiculous decisions, was told by Lee that he would not be welcome afterwards.

Feelings were running high after Fish had . . . sent two players off, booked two others, awarded Kingstonian a penalty and then denied Wycombe an even more obvious penalty.

He also missed several other blatant incidents and was constantly jeered by the 1,064 crowd.

Wycombe manager Alan Gane was visibly upset at some of the decisions but refused to comment.

"I don't like to talk about referees," he said.
